Subject: Kaiser – National Union of Healthcare Workers Strike

Below is some information from Kaiser regarding a strike that began Monday, December 10, 2018.

The National Union of Healthcare Workers (NUHW), which represents Kaiser Permanente's mental health professionals (primarily therapists) in California as well as other health care professionals in the Southern California region, announced plans to conduct a 5-day statewide strike beginning December 10, 2018. In Northern California, the union that represents Kaiser Permanente's nurses and the union that represents Kaiser facilities and clinical technology engineers have announced concurrent sympathy strikes. There are no planned sympathy strikes in Southern California.

All of Kaiser hospitals and medical offices are scheduled to remain open during the strike. Kaiser reports it has taken steps to make sure members continue to receive high-quality mental health and other health care services provided by qualified professionals during the strike.
